YANCEY F. F. A. ELECTIONS OFFICERS.

The Yancey chapter of the Future Farmers of America met Wednesday night, August 5th, for the purpose of electing and installing officers for the coming year.

John McAnelly was re-elected as president of the chapter. The following members were elected to fill the other offices: Edward Fohn, vice president; Jack Fohn, secretary; Pete Hartman, treasurer; Charles Hartman, parliamentarian; John H. Muennink, reporter; and Robert Ward, farm watch dog.

A playground ball team was organized with Charlie Ward and Fritz Muennink elected as managers. Plans for a two-day fishing trip were discussed. Details for the trip will be worked out at the next meeting which has been set for August 18th.

RATH-STEVENSON.

Milton "Buster" Rath, popular young business man of Hondo, and Miss Jewel Stevenson of San Antonio were quietly married at 10 o'clock Saturday night, August 8, 1936, at the Lutheran parsonage in Hondo. Rev. W. Leibfarth, pastor, performed the ceremony in the presence of a few intimate friends. Attendants were Mrs. Russell Chapman of Hondo and Mr. Thomas Reynolds of Seguin.

The bride wore a smart two-piece ensemble of navy blue, the white linen collar of the frock being fagot in navy blue. Her hat and accessories were also in navy and white.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Rath left on a honeymoon trip to Dallas and Fort Worth. On their return they will reside in Hondo.

The groom is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Rath, prominent residents of Hondo, and is owner of the Rath Service Station. His bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stevens, who reside on the Peter Weynand place, and has been employed in San Antonio.

The many friends of the young couple extend congratulations and best wishes for a long and happy married life.

HONDO METHODIST CHURCH.

Shan M. Hull, Pastor.

The pastor will occupy his pulpit next Sunday morning at the eleven o'clock hour, but there will be no preaching in the evening because of the revival meeting that is in progress at the Baptist Church. We would be delighted to see a large congregation at the Sunday morning service. Then we shall also be delighted to see a large gathering of our Methodist people at the evening service at the Baptist Church. The Baptist brethren will appreciate our cooperation in their meeting. The evangelist is bringing some very inspiring, needed, and helpful messages.

Since we understand that the Lutheran Pastor will be out of the city for the last two Sundays in August, we therefore wish to extend to his congregation a most cordial invitation to worship with us during his absence.

"Come thou with us, we'll do thee good."

HONDO DOWNS PEARSALE IN TWELVE INNINGS.

Softball fans who failed to attend Monday night's game at the Plaza between Hondo and Pearsall missed a real ball game as the two teams put up one of the hardest fought games played here this season. The game went 12 innings before the local club managed to push across the winning run in the last half of the twelfth.

Hondo took an early lead and held it until the seventh inning when Pearsall tied the score at 5 all. The visitors scored again in the eighth but the locals tied the score in their half of the ninth when Sadler doubled and scored on Roth's line drive through short. The two teams played tie tight ball in the 10th and 11th innings, with neither side scoring until the last of the twelfth when Sadler walked, went to second on an infield error and scored on Grant's double to left.

A WARNING.

A drive against unlicensed barber work was started in Hondo last week by Mr. C. D. McKnight of San Antonio, State Barber Shop Inspector.

Mr. McKnight said that the State Board members and inspectors have given every one time enough to obtain their licenses and to come up to the requirements of the Barber Law, and that anyone operating in their homes or otherwise without licenses need not expect further leniency from the State Board of Inspectors.

For violation of sanitation or the statute is a fine of $25.00 to $200.00. Mr. McKnight has talked to and warned these violators a number of times and he issues this statement as a final warning.

DEVINE TO CELEBRATE.

We are pleased to acknowledge receipt of an invitation to attend Devine's Corn-Broomcorn Street Fair at Devine next Thursday, August 20th. That town is preparing to put on a gala time and will give away some valuable prizes for farm and garden products.

All of which reminds us that just about thirty-six years ago the M. E. had occasion to visit Devine, some two or three and maybe four cotton gins were going day and night, you had to pick your way between cotton wagons and everybody was too busy working with cotton to stop long enough to spend a dollar for a subscription to the paper. Most of the vegetables came out of cans and corn and broomcorn as export money crops had scarcely been dreamed of at that time.

But that was before Mr. B. W. Eevil had taken up a permanent residence, before Devine's present Korn King had quit chewing mesquite beans or begun to dream dreams of Landon's election.

Verily, times do change!

FIRST BALES.

Hollaway's gin ginned the first two bales of the new season Tuesday, August 11, 1936. The first bale was grown by Jack Ulbrich and was bought by Clyde Hollaway for 13c. Mr. Ulbrich also received a premium of $5.00 and free ginning of the bale.

Felix Lopez, a tenant on the Gus Batot farm, was a close runner-up with the second bale. The third one had come in by Thursday—grown by Alex Wendland. The fourth bale, grown by Clyde Hollaway will be ginned today.

First bales for the last four years have come in as follows: 1936, Aug. 11; 1935, Aug. 16; 1934, July 17; 1933, July 15.

Rank growth of the plant has delayed opening but with continued dry hot weather it is expected to open rapidly now.

SAN GERONIMO BAND REUNION.

When the managing editor of this paper went to San Geronimo in September, 1898, to teach the 1898-99 term of the San Geronimo school, a community enterprise of which all were proud was the San Geronimo String Band, an organization of musically inclined young men of the community.

The only help this writer could be was to play the role of an attentive and appreciative listener. This he was privileged to do on various and sundry occasions.

Time passed. The young men became men of families, with the multiplied interests and cares that involves. Some of the "old gang" moved away. And the band that had discoursed sweet music to the edification of many a community gathering ceased its activities, and became all but a forgotten factor in community affairs by the younger generation.

Not so with those who had an active part in making the band what it was when it was making history.

Therefore, to keep alive old memories, Mr. Otto Huegele, who was the band leader when he knew it, assisted by the Echtle Brothers, George and Paul, conceived the idea of a reunion of the band. This was expanded into a gathering of all San Geronimo school pupils—some now gray-haired grandparents—and not only did the ex-band members but the ex-students enter heartily into the plan and again a band activity became a community affair. The result was a large gathering at a community basket picnic, Sunday, August 9, 1936, in the beautiful Echtle pecan grove near LaCoste.

And it was a real reunion. There were gathered people from Hondo to San Antonio and from Devine to Cliff, all of whom at some time if not now were identified with the community life of San Geronimo and while the young people indulged the proclivities of youth to romance, the elders reminisced—and what reminiscences some of those reminiscences brought back to memory! At noon all enjoyed a delightful basket luncheon, and for the rest of the time each enjoyed himself as best suited the time and occasion.

The San Geronimo Band was organized in the early days of the school by Prof. Bencke, one of the teachers who was a musician of ability. He passed out of the scene before we came on, but the effect of his teaching and his inspiration remained manifest for many years, and Mr. Geo. Echtle proudly exhibited on the grounds his old music book, autographed to him by his teacher and band leader in the band's early days. While the playing of several selections on the violin and guitar by Otto and Pete Huegele brought back feelings reminiscent of former days, who can measure the bounds of a wholesome influence—such as that planted by that old music teacher of the long ago? Many teachers have labored at San Geronimo, served their day and departed. One of the earliest of these was the late Prof. John G. Hall, one of the best friends this writer ever had. When an effort was made to locate those teachers whose activities were contemporary with the band in its active days only two could be found. They were Judge L. J. Brucks, who taught the school during the 1890-91 term, and this writer, for the term of 1898-99. The writer, succeeded a brother of the Judge's, the late Willie E. Brucks, then the latter enlisted in the army for the Spanish American war. We were followed the next term, 1899-1900, by the late Louis Marquis. So the pleasure that was ours for being two special guests was not untempered with some regret that others could not be there to share the honors with us.

In the cool shade of the giant pecans, in the wide-open spaces, after a delightful repast, with any beverage desired to cool a thirsty palate, and the association of congenial friends the event was indeed an enjoyable occasion. Space will not permit mention of individual names, but probably the happiest of those present was Mrs. Rudolph Wurzbach, now still strong and active though in her middle 80's. It was in her home this writer was given lodging when he was a part of the community life of San Geronimo and the memory of her kindness and that of her family has been a pleasant heritage for almost these forty years.

To the promoters of the band reunion, to their former pupils of old San Geronimo, and to all they met on the grounds, the two ex-pedagogues and their better-halves, Mrs. L. J. Brucks and Mrs. Fletcher Davis, are profoundly grateful for being so kindly remembered.

TO JURORS FOR THIRD WEEK.

We are requested to announce that District Court has adjourned for the term, and petit jurors summoned for the third week need not appear as they will not be needed. This notice is official authorization not to appear.

SEE AMERICA FIRST.

By Clayton Rand.

Meeting in Maine in annual convention, the National Editorial Association adopted a SEE AMERICA FIRST resolution.

The purpose of the resolution was to encourage "the resort and recreational idea at home in preference to the much overdone see-the-world idea."

So many more Americans have gone abroad than other nationals have come here, that it has been a one-sided sort of business. Certainly it is a shortsighted patriotism to flock to foreign shores in ships our credit nations have built with our money, while we neglect our own scenic and man-made wonders.

With new parks and playgrounds being provided and new highways making these attractions accessible, why not See America First?

STOP ROAD CARNAGE.

"The future of the casualty and surety business," wrote Henry Swift Ives, Special Counsel for the Association of Casualty and Surety Executives, "does not lie wholly in indemnifying victims of misfortune; rather it lies in the prevention of misfortune itself."

For many years the casualty industry has worked to prevent accidents to workers, and that work has saved thousands of lives and an untold sum of money. In practically every industrial field, accidents have grown fewer and less severe—and the surveys and recommendations made by the casualty experts have been of immense aid. There has been a decrease in losses from burglary and bank robbery, due largely to the industry's work in fighting the criminal and promulgating proposals for strengthening the law and enforcement agencies. . . . The "fake accident racketeer," who robs the pockets of every insurance policy-holder, has been given especially aggressive attention and hundreds of such criminals have been arrested, convicted and punished.

The most difficult field in which to attain results has been that of automobile accidents. Every year witnesses more deaths and injuries, and greater property loss. In spite of the most intensive work on the part of insurance companies and other private and public institutions, the reckless, the incompetent and the congenitally dangerous driver has not been curbed.

Here is where the general public must assist if progress is to be made. It must demand up-to-date traffic laws, rigorously and impartially enforced. It must demand the outlawing of the decrepit and dangerous vehicle. It must demand strict licensing laws for drivers. And it must demand that those drivers who refuse to operate their cars carefully, or are unable to, be barred from the public highways.

We must do this in the interest of our lives, our health, our pocket-books.—Industrial News Review.

PROFLIGATE GOVERNMENT.

"Here's a comparison that will give you something to think about: From the time of President Washington (1789) to the time of President Wilson (1913) the successive Federal congresses appropriated a total of $24,000,000,000. That sum paid all the central government's expenses for the 124 years, including the cost of a number of wars, such as the Civil War, War of 1812 and Spanish American War.

"During the last four years, two congresses have appropriated about $32,500,000,000—eight billion more than was appropriated from the inception of the American government up to the first administration of Wilson.

No one political party can be blamed for this prodigality—both Republicans and Democrats have shown a shameful disregard for the people's money. Nor has the spending trend been confined to the last few years—ever since the World War, the government has shown an accelerating tendency to fatten the budget. Nor can the politicians be blamed to the exclusion of everyone else—A SUPINE AND INDIFFERENT ATTITUDE ON THE PART OF THE PEOPLE HAS GIVEN THEM A FREE HAND WITH THE PUBLIC'S HARD-EARNED DOLLARS.

Suspension of Ten Unions Voted by Federation Council— Many Oil Men Indicted for Conspiracy— Metaxas Dictator of Greece.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

© Western Newspaper Union.

UNLESS John L. Lewis and his associates in the Committee for Industrial Organization repent and cease their "rebellious" activities before September 5, the ten unions they head will be under suspension from the American Federation of Labor. Such was the verdict of the federation's executive council which passed on the charges of John P. Frey, president of the metal trades division, that the CIO was "fomenting insurrection and rebellion." David Dubinsky, head of the garment workers, cast the only vote against the suspension order.

Lewis having definitely set himself against any peace overtures, it appeared that the suspension certainly would be put into effect. The next move will be up to the Tampa convention in the fall, which will be asked to vote the expulsion of the refractory unions. The ten unions accused by Mr. Frey and found guilty are: Amalgamated Clothing Workers, Sidney Hillman, president. Oil Field, Gas Well, and Refinery Workers, Harvey Fremming, president. Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, Thomas H. Brown, president. Ladies' Garment Workers, David Dubinsky, president. Textile Workers, Thomas F. McMahon, president. Flat Glass Workers, Glen McCabe, president. Iron, Steel, and Tin Workers, M. F. Tighe, president. Automobile Workers, Homer Martin, president. Rubber Workers, S. H. Dalrymple, president.

Action on the International Typographical union, whose president, C. P. Howard, is secretary of the CIO; and the United Hat, Cap and Millinery Workers, part of whom are not associated with the CIO, was deferred. The suspended unions have a membership of about one million, or nearly one-third of the total in the federation. The council stated: "This is the first attempt ever made, during the existence of the A. F. of L., covering a period of more than 50 years, to set up a dual movement within. "It was the opinion of the executive council that it could not condone the setting up of a rival organization within the officially recognized family of organized labor, or tolerate and countenance it without sacrificing its self-respect or making an unconditional surrender to a minority group composed of members who are in open rebellion to democratic procedure and majority rule, as exemplified at the late convention of the A. F. of L." Lewis characterized the council's action as one of "incredible and crass stupidity" and said that it was "dictated by personal selfishness and frantic fear."

SIX passengers and two pilots were instantly killed when a big Lockheed Electra plane of the Chicago and Southern Airlines crashed a few minutes after taking off from the airport of St. Louis, Mo. At this writing there is no explanation for the disaster. The plane was almost new and the weather not bad though skies were overcast. The plane was bound from New Orleans for Chicago, and five of the victims were residents of the latter city. One of the dead was Vernon Omie, a veteran pilot and husband of Phoebe Omie, a noted flyer.

CHARGED by the government with conspiracy to violate the anti-trust law by combining to dominate the purchasing of oil in the Texas, Louisiana and Oklahoma fields and to fix prices of gasoline in the Middle West, 58 persons, 23 petroleum concerns and three publishing companies were indicted by a federal grand jury in Madison, Wis. Among the prominent defendants are Edward G. Seubert of Chicago, president of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana; Henry M. Dawes of Evanston, Ill., president of the Pure Oil company, and many officials of Standard Oil, Pure Oil, Deep Rock, Conoco-Vacuum and various other oil concerns and their subsidiaries. Also in the list are Warren C. Platt of Cleveland, publisher of the National Petroleum News and Platt's Oilgram; his two publications and the Chicago Journal of Commerce. The indictment charged that the defendant oil companies formed pools in the east Texas and mid-continent fields for the purpose of purchasing gasoline at artificially high prices from independent producers, and in furtherance of such a scheme were members of associations which included the independent refiners, to aid the plan, had curtailed their production of gasoline.

This, said Mr. Platt, is exactly what the oil companies did with the approval of Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, administrator of the NRA petroleum code, when efforts were being made to limit the production of gasoline, prevent the flow of excess quota oil into market channels, and raise prices in that turbulent industry.

"The government's charge turns on whether a practice legally started and carried on under the recent NRA petroleum code was continued in illegal manner after the NRA was killed by the United States Supreme court," Mr. Platt said.

Argentine farmers are expected to profit to the extent of $50,000,000 or more as a result of the keen competition for corn between the United States and Europe, which has recently lifted prices about 17 cents per bushel in the Buenos Aires market.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT was visibly aroused by Republican charges that the New Dealers were seeking to reap political profit from the drought conditions. At his press conference he broke with the usual rule by permitting himself to be directly quoted as saying: "It is a great disservice to the proper administration of any government to link up human misery with partisan politics."

THERE is another dictatorship in Europe, this time in Greece. Gen. John Metaxas, premier, announced that a general strike fostered by communists was likely to lead to serious disturbances, so, with the approval of King George II, he declared martial law, dissolved parliament, postponed elections indefinitely and mobilized all workers in essential services such as railways, in order that, called to the colors, they would be directly under government control.

Strong guards were mounted at power stations, gas works and other vital points and all soldiers and police not on guard duty were held in barracks ready for action. Metaxas promised the enforcement of an eight hour day, a minimum wage and a social insurance system. He remodeled the cabinet, taking for himself the army, navy, air and foreign affairs portfolios. Dispatches to Bucharest said there had been clashes in the northern provinces of Greece between workers and the military forces.

DESPERATE fighting for possession of the passes in the Guadarrama mountains north of Madrid was going on between the government forces and the rebel troops. Loyalist soldiers were hurried to that region, and Madrid claimed some victories. However, the Fascists on the northern side of the range were said to be within sight of the capital and in position for a vigorous advance.

The rebels scored in the south by landing 2,000 Moroccan troops from Ceuta after a lively sea and air fight in which two loyalist warships were driven off. The loyalists were also reported to have met defeat near Avila, losing 600 men and some tanks and trucks.

On the twentieth day of the rebellion the government announced it had captured the provinces of Catalonia, Valencia, Murcia, Malaga, Ciudad Real, Guadajajara, Badajoz and the northern resort city of San Sebastian.

Fascist Italy has been accused of aiding the Spanish rebels, and it is asserted a number of Italian bombing planes were sent to them in Morocco. The leftist French government naturally is in sympathy with the Madrid government and Frenchmen, unarmed, have been given permission to cross the border to aid in putting down the rebellion. German and Russian sympathies, also, are ranged on opposite sides, and all this caused fears that a general war might result. France called on all other nations to preserve neutrality, and Spain warned Italy and Germany to keep hands off.

SENATOR HENRY W. KEYES of New Hampshire has announced that he is not a candidate for reelection by the Republicans, preferring "to retire from active participation in public affairs." The Republicans therefore will choose between former Senator George H. Moses and Gov. H. Styles Bridges, both of whom have announced their candidacy for the nomination.

Kansas Republicans renominated Senator Arthur Capper, and the Democrats picked Omar Ketchum of Topeka. In Kentucky the Democrats renominated Senator M. M. Logan, whose Republican opponent in November will be Robert H. Lucas.

Marion A. Zioncheck, the eccentric congressman from Seattle, reconsidered his decision to retire and announced that, at the request of his mother, he would be a candidate to succeed himself, "to show the people that I am neither crazy nor foolish."

IN THE first few days of the Olympic games in Berlin the American track team piled up such an imposing number of points that it appeared certain none of the rival teams could catch up. Jesse Owens of Ohio State university lead his mates in this victorious march, winning three championships, in the 100-meter and 200-meter runs and the broad jump. In the longer dash he lowered the world and Olympic marks. Ken Carpenter of California won the discus throw with a new Olympic record of 50.48 meters, and Gordon Dunn, also of California, was second. Earl Meadows of Texas was first in the pole vault with a new Olympic mark; and points were won by various other American athletes.

Among the women contestants Helen Stephens of Missouri distinguished herself by breaking the world record in two heats of the 100-meter dash.

NEW YORK Republicans are to nominate a candidate for governor at their party convention in September, and Col. Theodore Roosevelt has said in a letter that was made public that he is willing to accept that honor if the party so desires.

Colonel Roosevelt, now forty-eight years old, was the Republican candidate for governor in 1924 and was defeated by Alfred E. Smith. Since then he has been governor of Puerto Rico and governor-general of the Philippines.

Col. Roosevelt has been governor of Puerto Rico and governor-general of the Philippines.

A VOLUNTARY cut of $5,361,936 in the debts of 33,906 "distressed" farmers was reported by the Resettlement administration. The debts, it said, were scaled down by creditors, through the work of voluntary farm debt committees in bringing farmers and their creditors "together in a neutral atmosphere" during the ten months ended June 30.

Expenses of seeking debt readjustments, taken from a fund provided by President Roosevelt Sept. 1 last year, amounted to 1 per cent of the total amount of debts involved, the administration said. So far, $1,100,000 of the allocated $2,000,000 had been expended.

DECLARING that it "will indorse no candidate" of party in the Presidential campaign, the American Liberty league states:

"The league is neither an adjunct nor an ally of the Republican party. It is not an adjunct of the Democratic party, even though many of its principles harmonize with the excellent platform adopted by that party in 1932 and proclaimed as 'a covenant with the people to be faithfully kept.'"

"Certainly the league is not an adjunct of the New Deal party which for the moment has usurped control of the party of Jefferson, Jackson, Cleveland, and Wilson. It has not and will not contribute to any campaign fund."

WHILE the nations of Europe were worrying over the Spanish rebellion and the danger that it might bring about open rupture among the Fascist and anti-Fascist governments of the continent, steps were taken to assure peace. Germany and Italy accepted the invitation of Grea. Britain, France and Belgium to participate in a conference this fall from which it is hoped another and better Locarno pact will emerge.

No date for the conference has been set, but it was expected to be held either just before or soon after the meeting of the league of nations assembly in Geneva in September.

PEDRO ALBIZU CAMPOS, leader of the Puerto Rico Nationalist party, and seven of his associates were found guilty at San Juan of a conspiracy to overthrow the United States government in the island by force and were sentenced by Federal Judge R. A. Cooper to prison terms ranging from two to six years. In the first trial of these men the jury had disagreed.

The case originated in a clash between Nationalists and police last October in which several persons were slain. Following this, Col. E. Francis Riggs, chief of insular police, was murdered, presumably in revenge for the killing of Nationalists in the October fight.

National Topics Interpreted
by William Bruckart
National Press Building Washington, D. C.

Washington.—The United States is being given an object lesson in what happens when government attempts to interfere with nature.

American farmers these days are threshing their wheat crop. The production is that of a reduced acreage, an acreage that was planned on theory by the Department of Agriculture. The result is that this year's American wheat crop will approximate 640,000,000 bushels. That is about 145,000,000 bushels less than the average crop during the five years from 1929 to 1933. The result is a shortage.

Department of Agriculture figures indicate that the total wheat crop in the world this year will be something like 650,000,000 bushels below the annual production. In other words, the wheat crop is short everywhere on earth and the result is obvious.

In our own case, there is normally a carry-over each year of about 125,000,000 bushels but due to the shortage of the crop this year that carry-over is insufficient to make up the needs of domestic consumption.

Consequently, we soon will see heavy importations of Canadian wheat, a wheat that can be blended in milling with our own production and a very satisfactory flour results. Yet, it must be remembered that on all importations of wheat from Canada or anywhere else, a tariff of 42 cents a bushel must be paid. It is clear, therefore, that consumers of bread must pay that tariff because the importers are going to pass that item of expense along as part of the cost of the flour. In addition to the shortage in the United States, Canadian wheat production is reported to be something like 100,000,000 bushels under normal. There is sufficient production in Canada to permit of export, of course, but the shortage is bound to be reflected in the prices.

And mention of the price brings us back to the individual effect of the combination of acreage, reduced by government edict, plus the act of nature in visiting a drought upon us. Scarcity always results in higher prices. It is the operation of the law of supply and demand. The Roosevelt farm policy has been predicated on the theory that scarcity would produce higher prices and thereby add to the farm income. But drought and other production hazards cannot be predicted and, therefore, the American people find themselves in a position where the unpredictable has happened and the farmers are not getting the benefit of higher prices on a natural and normal production.

There seems to be a stronger demand for wheat now than at any time during the last five or six years. It indicates a restoration of buying power on the part of the masses. In other words, industry again is opening up to some extent and employing workers although the increase in employment has been small thus far.

In consequence of this combination of circumstances, there is now a seller's market in wheat instead of a buyer's market in wheat. To say it another way, there are more people seeking to buy wheat than there are seeking to sell it and the consumers of flour will pay the bill. By way of contrast with present conditions, it may be pointed out that world wheat consumption has exceeded world wheat production in every year except one since 1929. In the 1932 crop year there was slightly more wheat produced in the world than was consumed. The result of the steady growth in consumption over production in the last few years has been to wipe out all of the carry-over—wheat stored in bins and elevators throughout the world—and in every country users of wheat are scraping the bottoms of their bins. The tragedy of it all is that, because of the reduced acreage and the drought in the United States, American farmers are not in a position to take advantage of the higher prices thus established by the sale of surplus wheat which may have been accumulated if the acreage had been normal.

Instead of the United States really controlling the market for wheat, we are in a position where a good many other countries may be encouraged to grow more wheat. The natural and obvious results of this will be to further curtail the outlet for American wheat which so long has been relied on by many foreign nations that are non-producers of wheat.

I do not know how far the New Deal intends to go in revising its basic economic policy regarding crop controlling. I can be sure of only one thing in regard to the New Deal plans: The visitation of the drought in two years in which the political planners of the New Deal attempted to upset nature laws has proved the inability of man to alter the course of nature and by the same token these conditions have proved the inability of government to change human nature. I do not know whether others will agree with my conclusion or not but I am of the opinion that the American farmers are paying dearly for the crop control checks they received in the past two years. Even with a crop shortened by drought, if there had been the normal acreage of wheat, American farmers would have reaped the reward to which they are so justly entitled.

A year or two ago, a committee of the American Bar association made a report definitely critical of the New Deal administration for having created so many agencies to which had been given functions almost like the courts. That report pointed out how such units as the now dead NRA and the equally dead AAA could issue rules and regulations that were enforceable as law. They called attention to the further fact that countless of these rules and regulations carried strict and severe penalties, even to the extent of a jail term for an individual violator.

Lately, another committee of the American Bar association has published another report, again calling attention to the un-American principles established in such bureaucratic control. It offers a constructive proposal for the elimination of bureaucratic management of individual affairs from Washington. It proposes the establishment of an administration court which would have power to enforce these rules and regulations but would be equipped with the judicial right of determination so that the thousands upon thousands of regulations with their various penalties would not be enforced upon an individual accused of their violation without giving that alleged violator the right of a hearing. The committee proposal, in other words, would put an end to determination of violations by one bureaucrat.

Ultimately, the proposed court would take over the judicial work of all of the administrative agencies in Washington now numbering something like 75. The initial operation of the court would be limited until it could bring something like uniformity out of the chaos now existing for it is well known that in many cases two governmental agencies will have rules on the same point and those rules will not be the same. In some aggravated situations, it has been found that one agency will prescribe a penalty against an individual business for doing one thing while another agency will have no penalty for the same act. Another instance is known where two agencies have virtually the same regulations but the penalties in the two rules are different.

I suppose the condition can be explained by the fact that dozens of new bureaus have been set up under the scores of New Deal laws and that in the haste to get them into operation, no co-ordination was had between the various groups, but it is my belief that private citizens cannot be blamed for this condition. Since they cannot be blamed for failure of government to function properly, they ought not be compelled to answer for the silly differences in law which bureaucrats have written under authority of congress to draft necessary regulations.

After all, congress is really to blame for this condition. It rushed through laws which President Roosevelt demanded and it did not take time to debate the provisions nor did it examine the sections to know fully what results would flow from them. In many cases, too many, statements of general legislative policy were not clear and congress abdicated its duties to the extent that it wrote into those laws provisions saying that the agency which was to enforce the particular law was given authority to write whatever rules and regulations were found to be necessary. Some authority of this kind always has been given in order to make the national laws flexible but they never have been given to such an extent as they have in the last three years.

Insufficient time has elapsed since the American Bar association committee came forth with its administrative court proposal for an analysis to be made of its potentialities. It may, and probably does, have weaknesses. It does, however, have a strong point in the general idea that a judicial body should determine whether an individual citizen has violated a bureaucrat's law and what the penalty should be rather than have that bureaucrat sit as prosecutor, judge and jury in telling the individual citizen what his crime has been.

Choses Vues
Furs, Conscience-Proof
Caterpillars and Weeds
Wise Generosity

An able Frenchman, long since dead, wrote about choses vues—"things seen."

There are still many things to see and to hear, although there is nobody to write about them as that old Frenchman wrote. At the head of the London Times' "personal column," some one pays to print this impressive extract from the Psalms:

"Seek the Lord, and His strength; seek His face evermore. Remember His marvelous works that He hath done; His wonders, and the judgments of His mouth." You spend a moment wondering what kind of English man or woman, strong in faith, decided to put that text before statesmen that today seek the "face" of Hitler, Mussolini, Stalin, but forget the greater power of the Creator of those gentlemen.

After that, you read in the same Times this advertisement: "Furs humanely obtained that can be worn with a clean conscience—full particulars from Maj. C. Van Der Byl, Wapenam, Town-ester."

This being an ingenious and doubtless quite sincere appeal to the tender-hearted Englishwoman who does not like to think that the fur around her neck once belonged to an animal that suffered for days and perhaps weeks tortured in a trap.

Possibly the best way to "obtain furs humanely obtained" can be worn with a clear conscience is to buy and wear some of the innumerable furs, from rugged bears to silky chinchilla, made from the skins of rabbits that are nourished in little hutches in the suburbs of Los Angeles, and fed with "rabbit hay," tender young alfalfa, grown on the Mojave desert, a good deal of it on a ranch owned and operated by this writer.

When you buy furs, no matter what kind, with a rabbit skin foundation, you may be sure that the animal suffered very little, if at all, and when you buy that fur you also buy honest American alfalfa, which is a vegetarian product.

F. C. Cobb wrote from the Boy Scout reservation at Allaire, N. J.: "The last four week-ends have been spent by our scouts collecting tent caterpillar egg clusters from wild cherry and apple trees along the highways of Monmouth and Ocean counties. Many thousands of egg clusters, each containing on the average 250 eggs, have been destroyed."

No better work could be done by scouts and other boys. It is far better exercise than perfunctory "hikes," often exhausting for smaller boys. The fathers of the boys, also in need of exercise, can be useful mowing weeds along highways, excellent work for the lungs and for reducing the waist.

Edward S. Harkness, generous young New York financier, gave to Lawrenceville School for Boys a sum that will make possible important new building, plus rebuilding and a more extensive system of small-group instruction, with more teachers.

Mr. Harkness, who does not like publicity, refused to make public the amount of his gift of Lawrenceville, but he gave $7,000,000 to Yale and Harvard, to finance their housing systems. That gives some idea of the size of his gifts.

Some Americans will agree that it is a good thing to have men of unusual ability accumulate wealth wisely. Old-fashioned Americans would rather encourage such gifts and praise the givers than inculcate the notion that anybody with brains enough to accumulate wealth in this country of opportunity is probably a thief and ought to be in jail.

Mussolini knows how a dictator can keep his hold on the people. He establishes 2,000 government camps where half a million poor children enjoy free vacations for nine sea and mountain resorts. For nine years Mussolini has carried on this work.

In Europe, English, French, German, Italian or Czechoslovakian will believe anything you say about American crime, and that is hardly surprising. The heading "Chicago Politician Dies Under Hall of Racketeers' Bullets" surprises nobody. There might be mild surprise if the heading read, "Chicago Politician Dies NOT Die Under Hall of Racketeers' Bullets."

SAN ANTONIO LIVESTOCK MARKET.

Monday, August 10, 1936.

Cattle, receipts 600, calves 760.
Trading on the San Antonio market Monday was fairly active on the comparatively light supply of slaughter offerings and prices on most classes were generally steady with last week's close. A few early sales good calves were strong while medium kinds were slow on later rounds.
Cows and bulls were active and mostly steady with low grade cows strong.
Stock and shipper demand was slow.

Most good fat calves and light weight yearlings went to packers at $5.25 to $5.75, with odd lots to $6.00, medium offerings mostly $4.50 to $5.25 with rannies down to $3.50 and below. Common to medium cows sold mostly from $3.00 to $3.75 with most good fat cows at $4.00 to $4.25. Cutter grades ranged down to $2.25. Weighty bulls cashed around $4.25 and down, odd head above. Several lots plain matured grass steers sold from $5.25 down to $4.00, few to $4.00. Load of medium 1193 pound grass steers cashed at $5.60. Several carlots of stocker cows and yearlings were unsold late.

Hogs, receipts 400. The market was active and strong to 25c higher than last week's close with the advance mostly on good to choice butchers. Early top $10.50 to all interests, highest since last August.
Good to choice 180 to 260 pound butchers $10.25 to $10.50. Best 140 to 160 pounds $8.75 to $9.75, few $10.00; 160 to 180 pounds $9.75 to $10.25, few to $10.50. A few heavy weight hogs brought $9.25 to $10.00.
Packing sows sold about steady at $8.00 to $8.50.

Sheep, receipts 50, Goats 50. Market about steady. Not enough on sale to establish a market. Fat 77 pound woolled lambs late last week cashed at $8.00, 69 pound shorn offerings $7.00. Aged fat wethers are quotable at $4.50 down. A few medium fleshed goats brought $2.40.

STATE RIGHTS

FARMING MUST PAY OR THE NATION WILL PERISH - Geo. B. Terrell.

FLETCHER DAVIS,
Editor and Publisher

Entered as second class matter June 24, 1922, at the Postoffice at Hondo, One Year, 50c; Three Years, $1.00
Texas, under the Act of March 3, 1879.
Single copies, 5c.

VOL. XV.

HONDO, TEXAS, AUGUST 1, 1936.

No. 1.

LET'S ELECT THIS MAN!

George B. Terrell led in a field of four in the race for Commissioner of Agriculture at the July 25th primary by a plurality of some 35,000 votes. This places him in the preferred position in the runoff of August 22nd.

This position was won without organization and against the present incumbent, against the incumbent's official family and against one of the most powerful and efficient political machines ever built up in Texas.

This shows that George B. Terrell has the confidence of those voters who best know him, who think for themselves and who vote, first of all, for the best interest of the public service.

In active public life for a third of a century, the only charge brought against him is that he has grown old in that service, that he has had the wisdom to form his own judgments as to what are the best policies for a self-governing Republic, and that he has had the honesty and the courage to stand openly and unequivocally for his principles.

Since when has it become a crime in America to be a statesman instead of a time-serving politician, cringing in abject subserviency to the dictates of a political boss?

Since when is it less majestic to hold opinions of your own, especially when a "multitude of counsel" is so sorely needed that "wisdom may be found"; when "criticism" was being solicited and supine acquiescence was the rule?

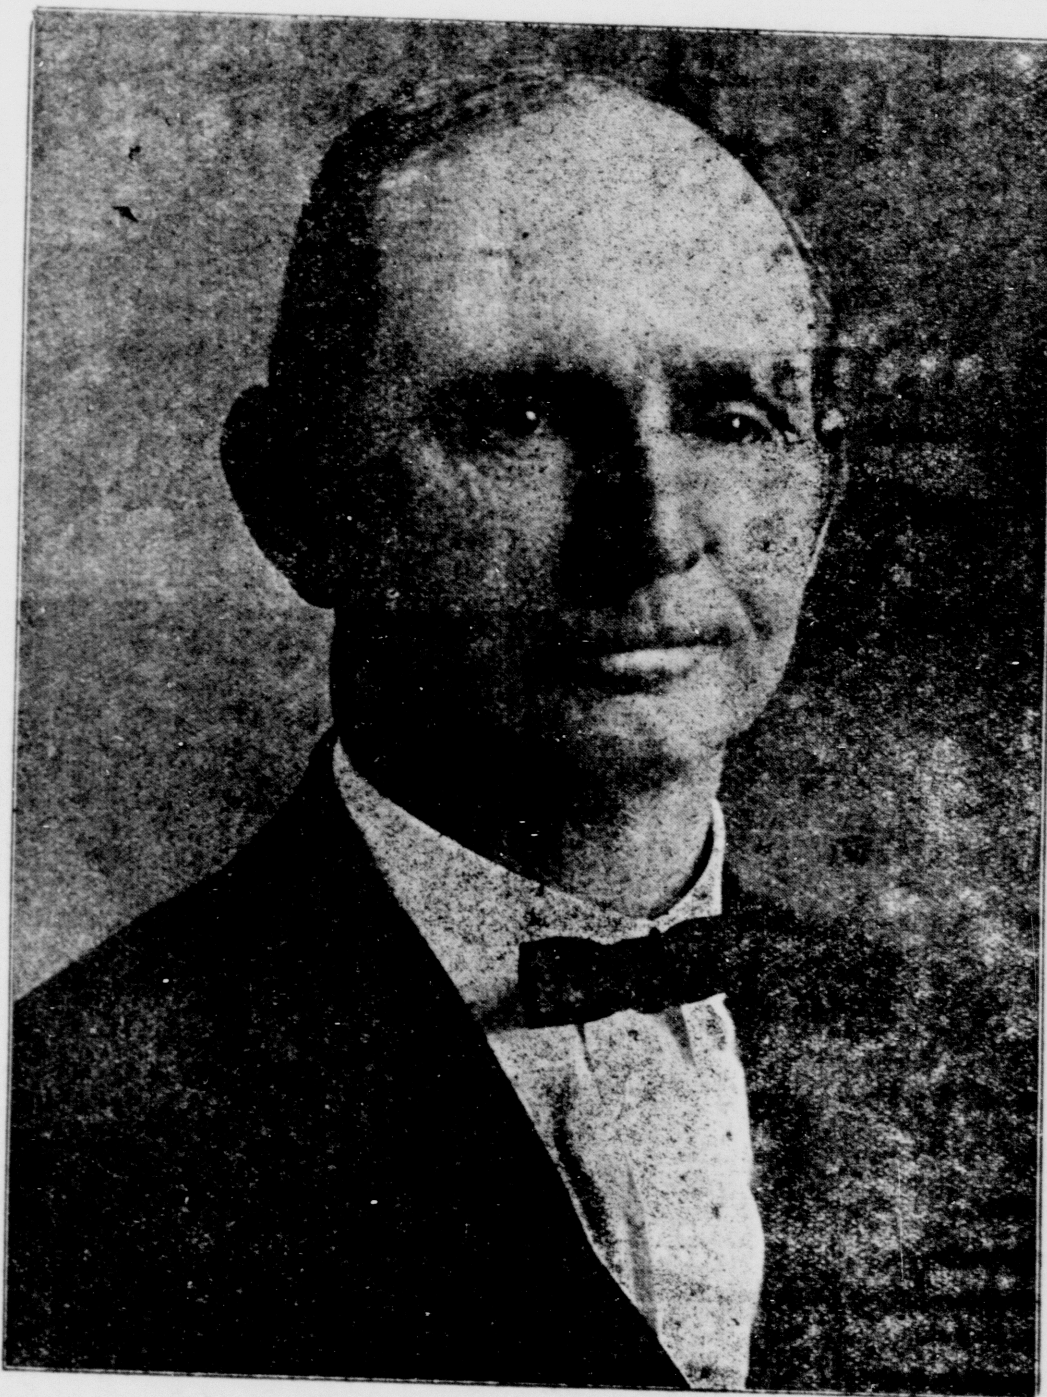

Since when has mankind grown so wise that we are no longer to "look to the aged for counsel", to profit from the wisdom of their experience?

If there ever was a time when the wisdom of the elder statesman, when the clearness and depth of vision of the thoughtful and experienced, when the courage of the brave the frank and the true were needed in public life, that day is now.

All of these are yours if you elect George B. Terrell Commissioner of Agriculture August 22nd.

In view of the sordid selfishness that permeates present day politics and seems to motivate most political activity for or against most candidates, and is making cringing cowards on the one hand or "sharp traders" on the other out of too many officials, we wish to add as a final word this postscript.

The writer of this resigned, of his own volition and without coercion or suggestion from Mr. Terrell, a position of confidence and trust under his employment. We parted in the same spirit of friendly understanding as that under which we had labored together.

HON. GEO. B. TERRELL

That friendship has grown stronger as the passing years have given this writer time and opportunity to better know and appreciate the real worth of the man.

Therefore, if the mite of labor we may contribute in aid to the building of the temple of a better state government is of any value, we are glad to give it without fee or hope of reward, happy that while rendering such service to our state we can at the same time help and honor a deserving friend.

The people of Texas will make no mistake if on August 22nd they elect for their Commissioner of Agriculture, the tried, the true and the trustworthy George B. Terrell of Alto, Texas.

VOTE FOR HIM AUGUST 22nd

By Tumbleweed.

"I want a rose beside my door, laden with scented bloom; and love that will forevermore abide in every room." What shall we, as a nation, accomplish with higher taxes? The very sound of it is enough to discourage any home owner who thinks of the future.

Is it any wonder that the people are turning to building house trailers? Therein lies a small measure of comfort, a roof over the heads of loved ones, no taxes, no rent, no gas, no water, lights or telephone bills and "dad can hustle enough for eats". The accompanying gipsy existence thoroughly shocks old timers who believe in homes and home life; but we are brought to it by high taxes nothing else.

Talk to your neighbors and friends; they all say, "It's better to rent than to pay such high taxes", and "Just as soon as I can unload, I'm building a trailer, then no more property for me."

Can you blame a man if he gets tired of being mercilessly "squeezed" all his life? Enough is enough.

Humanity is closely akin to the pack rat in that it longs for a home in which to hoard its treasures; we all want a home, make no mistake about that.

"This is the tree grandfather planted" and "Here are the marks of Mary's baby fingers which we have kept through the years". People love intimate, sacred things in their lives. It is but the beautiful God-part shining through, but if the ones who are greater than we desire to take away our homes what can we do but turn into nomads?

What does it profit a man, though he borrow ever so much money, does he not have to pay it back with interest? If he needs it so badly that he has to borrow, how shall he catch up and get ahead so that he CAN pay back when the reckoning day comes, and woe to him if he does not pay. Presto, he is without a home.

What sort of chaos do you think the future will bring when no man owns property any more! What would you think of exempting city property up to the amount of $2500 and farm property at a reasonable figure? How many people do you think would then buy property in which they could live and beautify to the soul-satisfaction of civic requirements. A person might live in a more expensive way if he chooses, but the majority of people would be assured of a home. In all the world there is no more Godly axiom than "Live and let live".

If our children are to be the brawn and brains of the nation then every child should be raised in a home into which they can look back and remember, "The home in which I was raised"; the peaceful setting which molds characters worthy of being depended on in times of stress.

We need homes for ourselves in which to prepare for that more peaceful abode which is promised us all; vacant houses and farms are synonymous with bread lines, for one is productive of the other.

AN APPRECIATION.

Tilton N. H.,
July 8, 1936.

My dear Mr. Davis:

I greatly appreciate the compliment you have paid my poem, "Can You Bind the Pleiades", by reprinting it in your paper, and thank you for the gift subscription to the paper. When I saw the notice of your choice in Kaleidograph, I was much pleased, but doubted if I would care much for a Texas farm paper, as I live so far north and in a village. I was agreeably surprised when the journal came to find so much poetry in it and such shrewd political comment. We need the latter, now our government has become an experimental laboratory with the people as guinea pigs.

Sincerely yours,
CLARIBEL WEEKS AVERY.

TO THE VOTERS OF TEXAS:

I take the liberty of stating some reasons why I favor Geo. Terrell for our Commissioner of Agriculture. Having had the unusual experience of having served the State in the capacity of Chief of the Pecan work under the appointment of Fred Davis, Geo. Terrell and J. E. McDonald, I favor Mr. Terrell because of his good moral character, honesty of purpose, his knowledge of the law concerning his duties and responsibilities. He is morally clean in both his public and private life.

The citizenship of the State can point with pride to Geo. Terrell as a worthy example in official life; to the youth as an example worthy of their emulation.

The office of Commissioner of Agriculture is of greater importance to the citizens of the State than Governor or any other office in the gift of the people.

If you vote for Terrell, you will never have cause of regret for your act.

J. H. BURKETT

Clyde, Texas.

CHASING RAINBOWS.

Most all people are interested in natural phenomena. Eclipses of the sun, moon or stars, even the daily rising tide and the rainbow all never cease to attract us. Many people never lose interest in watching the rising or setting sun.

Dallas State Press recently commented again on what he calls "a supposed rainbow", and accounts for it on the theory of the University professor who said "it was a reflected glow from the Centennial Light". Maybe so, as to the occasion referred to around Dallas, but you know how hard it is for some Dallasites to see anything these days, except through "Centennial Lights".

But we were left to infer that the University professor and State Press both doubt the reality of what is sometimes called "a moonbow". Nay, Professors, you ought to know better. For fifty years I have known better. I saw my first "moonbow" in about 1887, and once made a Press report about it—the first I had ever seen reported.

A Corsicana lady sent in a like report given recently from Calexico, California, and such a phenomenon was also reported in the Press from Dalhart, Texas, in 1923. Of course, such things are reported rarely, but they often occur, whether anybody sees them or not. Reflected light from the moon will form a rainbow in the clouds just as naturally as direct light from the sun will form it.

A rainbow at night formed by the reflected moon rays is very common. A fog-bow in daylight is much less common, but no doubt often occurs. Individually, I have seen it only once in 60 years. I would think that sailors would see them often. But it is true that what occurs once in the natural world, will occur again under similar surroundings.

P. A. SPAIN,
Paris, Texas.

SHADOWS.

By Ellen Mills.

Tonight, the deserted road lies so still that it seems to know that it's day of usefulness has forever passed and that it is but a thing of the yester years, exposed to the harsh unthinking criticism of each passerby.

As I wait in the shadows, I see an old man, trudging down the road, hesitatingly, as if he saw not the tree-shadows flitting here and there making fantastic patterns as though to draw his attention to them.

In order for me to get a better view of the panorama before me, I lie prone among the fallen autumn leaves and am soon rewarded by seeing the old man look up and smile and a bright-haired, laughing girl came down the path and together, hand in hand, they gaily disappeared down the road, he a youth again, and she gay with laughter, making a scene so beautiful that the tree-shadows dance with renewed happiness, for the years had slipped back from the old man's shoulders and he was just a carefree lad with his youthful sweetheart. And I, Ellen, saw these things come to pass, that sunny afternoon.

The old road is now made into a new road and the busy populace have no time to stop for lovers, for Time has made its stride and we are now advancing into the machine age with its hurry and scurry.

I have come again to the place where I saw those lovers disappear, but darkness closes around me and it is chill. The tree-shadows have gone behind the hill, but I have been permitted to revel in one dream of the yesterdays. Time moves on.

The total governmental debt of the United States now stands at the record figure of $53,000,000,000, according to the United States News. The Federal debt accounts for $34,000,000,000. The balance, $19,000,000,000 is represented by state and local debt.

LACOSTE LEDGERETTES.

From The LaCoste Ledger.

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Hutzler and granddaughter, Inez Rihn, and Mr. and Mrs. Alex Hutzler and daughter, Beatrice, from here and Mr. and Mrs. Alex Ott and baby from New Braunfels were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Friesenhahn and baby and Mrs. Rosa Hutzler at Marion Sunday.

William Keller is busy this week installing new scales at the Keller warehouse. He is tearing out the old scales and will replace them with a new 10-ton scale that will take care of the long trucks and trailers. The improvement will add much to the convenience in loading and unloading farm products.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Keller and daughter of Cline, Texas, arrived here Monday to spend a couple of days visiting with relatives before going on Thursday to Dallas to attend the Texas Centennial. Mr. Keller is section foreman for the S. P. at Cline and is well and favorably known here where he has formerly lived.

A. F. Rihn of Riomedina was a business visitor here Wednesday. Frank Zeinert of Macedonia was a business visitor here Tuesday.

Mrs. Alfred Keller and sons, Alvin and Alfred, Jr., were San Antonio visitors Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Gutzert of San Antonio were visiting relatives here Monday.

E. J. Keller served as grand juror at District Court at Hondo this week. Miss Lola Wilson of Brady, Texas, is spending several days at the home of Mrs. Ida Bippert.

MRS. LOUISE SCHEILE.

What our Father does is well: Blessed truth! His children tell; Though He send for plenty want, Yet we rest upon His love, Seeking better things above.

This is the first stanza of one of the favorite hymns of the departed, Mrs. Louise Scheile. It is much in keeping with her cheerful and optimistic frame of mind. She was disposed to be good-natured, and had a healthy philosophy of life which benefited all who made her acquaintance. Mrs. Scheile was a person who was easy to get acquainted with and of whom one could say: it was good to know her. Her absence will be sorely felt, especially by the immediate family, but also by the entire community.

The deceased was born in Germany at the time when the Union was torn with strife in a Civil War. It was on Jan. 3, 1863, when her birth brought joy to the parents living in the village of Groszwanleben, Magdeburg. The father was August Koennecke, and the daughter was Louise, nee von Hoff. Her Christian parents had the infant baptized Feb. 1, 1863. True to the customs and principles they held dear, the daughter was sent to school where she not only learned the rudiments of education but also received the necessary instruction in preparation for communicant membership in the Church. This period of instruction was closed with the beautiful rite of confirmation, on March 25, 1877. As was the custom, the departed attended school until she reached the age of 14 years, at which time she was expected to look for employment.

In the course of time she met Heinrich Scheile and in 1886 was united with him in marriage. This union was happy and fruitful. The couple followed the example of so many at the time and joined the large influx of immigrants to America. Texas was the destination and the family became settled near Tarpley on a farm. This union was blessed with 9 children, 2 of whom preceded their mother in death. One was an infant, the other a daughter, Dora, 21 years of age, who died May 1, 1923. She was the wife of Ben Wiemers then of Hondo. Her husband was also taken from her side on May 19, 1930. Thus three times Mrs. Scheile followed loved ones to their last resting places, and stood in tears of sorrow at the open graves. These were bitter afflictions which came into her life, but they helped in their saving work of ripening the fruit for God's garner.

Mrs. Scheile, who was a good, conscientious wife and mother, was always in a fair state of health. She was used to hard labor, of earning her daily gift of bread in the sweat of her brow. She seemed to be in robust health until quite recently. A week ago Sunday she enjoyed the companionship of her relatives and friends at the celebration of her sister's 80th birthday, who is the only surviving member of that family.

QUIHI NOTES.

And they came to the place . . . and Abraham built an altar . . . laid the wood . . . bound Isaac . . . and laid him on the altar. Gen. 22:9.

A flagrant case—if re-enacted today—for the sheriff, the newspapers (sensational headlines, box-car type), for a thunder-struck public, for the district attorney, for crowded courtrooms, for a million-or-more trial, and the verdict cut-and-dried before the judge's gavel strikes the desk for the first session. A religious culprit gets double space and treble attention with press and public; crimes of non-religious characters are not considered so surprising, but rather consistent with their principles and general philosophy of life. It's quite a sight, how Madam Public Opinion, slyly spoon-fed by highly seasoned pabulum of inventive reporters, well-directed press-scoops, editorials and associated concoctions, sits at such trials where a life had been at stake, wild-eyed, gravely offended, and signally distressed, demanding the extreme penalty, regardless of evidence or motive or alleviating circumstances, whereas the same madam sits complacently dry-eyed, with a barely arched eyebrow and only an impatient shrug of her shoulders, when hundreds and thousands are laid low, due to official neglect, to a mistaken command, a wrong calculation, a surprise attack, a strategic move, a premeditated military campaign, a rebellion, a war, and when the thing is over with, how our madam, by traditional habit, lauds the living heroes and forgets the moldering dead. Abraham was spared this spectacular and often hypocritical, commotion. But few judges could argue this case, but few judges and juries would understand the issue. The world at large would summon the instigator, the Lord Himself, before the bar and turn the patriarch loose as a poor dupe; the glow-worm judging the sun. The Lord has His own code of laws in testing man's faith. Abraham understands and, step by step, makes ready for "the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith".

Extremely hot days, sultry nights and reckless swarms of mosquitoes making their attacks, with lusty war-songs, upon almost helpless humanity, still there was a fair-sized crowd for our last League program, nor were our program-contributors much hampered by the uninvited guests and their tiny encores, plus stampact, but gave their numbers with the usual fervor. They deserve our thanks. And since we intend to carry on, the new program is in order: Recitations, the Misses Irene Nietenhoefer, Pauline Graff; select readings, Clarence Bohlen, Marvin Grell; vocal selections, outside of choir and male-chorus, Mrs. Elme Saathoff, Mr. Anton Grell; instrumental, Miss Eileen Hartman.

Sixteen members and several guests showed up at the last Ladies' Aid meet. (Wonder if we get a greater attendance by having their ter a long absence, and much improved. Also Harold Bohlen is about ready to bid the summer-flu farewell. Erleen Nietenhoefer, however, underwent a minor operation at the hospital. With a smiling face she waited for the ordeal. Cloudy skies for the little folks, alas!

More vacationists, and all report a pleasant time: Mr. and Mrs. Rolf Saathoff, Mathis Saathoff and Miss Gladys Britsch to Dallas; later the first party together with Mr. and Mrs. F. Fuos and Walter Balzen and family to Corpus Christi; and tomorrow the Messrs. Emil Lindeburg and Elmer Nietenhoefer will give the Exposition at Dallas the once over. We others sweat at home, the best we can.

Announcements for August the 16th: German service at 10; Sunday school in full at 9; English service at 8 P. M. With joy shall you draw water out of the wells of salvation. Is. 12: 3.

DOROTHY DIDN'T CARE.

I just loved the little toadstool
I found out in the yard,
But Dorothy didn't care, so she Stepped on it awful hard.

And then I cried and cried and cried
Till mother came to see,
She didn't know 'bout the toadstool
And thought they'd hurted me.

Mother asked Dorothy—"I just smashed
An old toadstool" she said,
"It wasn't old but new and nice
And little—now it's dead."

Then mother held me tight and said,
"Some night new ones will grow
And Dorothy won't smash any more,
She knows we love them so."

FORTUNE IN FRIENDSHIP.

I am not rich in worldly goods,
But richer far am I
Than some who boast a plenty of gold
And all that it will buy.

I have no fine raiment to wear
Nor princely place to dwell;
I eat of the most humble fare
And find it sates me well.

I have no money to invest
In idle pleasure's way,
Yet with life's treasures am I blest
And richer grow each day.

Beyond computing is my wealth
And its great dividends;
No artful thief may come by stealth
And steal my store of friends.

THE NEW IDEA OF CANCER.

On Friday morning, August 7, at 3:00 A. M. Mrs. Scheile became violently ill due to a severe stroke, which also affected her power of speech. She remained in this stricken condition, semi-conscious, until Sunday afternoon, when at 4:45 P. M. surrounded by her children and loved ones, she breathed her last and fell asleep. Mrs. Scheile attained the age of 73 years, 7 months and 6 days.

One sister mourns her departure out of this life, namely Mrs. Augusta Sprott of Comfort. The loss of a good and faithful mother is mourned by her 7 children, Augusta, Mrs. Frieda Pressler and Walter of Tarpley, Mrs. Emma Graff of Hondo, Mrs. Lucy Harkins of Brackettville, Henry and Willie also of Tarpley. Four grandchildren survive. The deceased was a member of the Daughters of Hermann Lodge, until the time of her death.

Rev. W. C. Leibfarth of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Hondo, officiated at the services, which were conducted Monday, August 10, 1936, from the old homestead near Tarpley. Interment was made at the side of her husband at the cemetery of Tarpley. Job 5, 26 was the sermon text. Mr. John Horger of the Horger Funeral Home at Hondo, had charge of the burial. Pall-bearers were: Hy. Koennecke, Gus Koennecke, Oscar Marquardt, Aug. Sprott, Otto Sprott and Edwin Sprott.

May the Lord strengthen and comfort those who will long for the presence of a mother and a loved one. They have the sympathy of all of us.

Fashion Back to Femininity Trend

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

MANNISHLY tailored to the brink of perfection during the practical hours and for sports? Decidedly so, if you would be smartly in fashion. However, it is an entirely different story which the mode is telling "what to wear" at festive midsummer events that take place amidst glamorous settings. Comes then into the style scene as lacy and lovely and sheer costumes-beautiful as ere graced a fashion picture.

The lavish use of nets, laces, organzas, marquisettes, tulle and similar materials of filmy texture and transparency quite exceeds anything of its kind seen for many a year. In the daytime they are tailored and for the night hours and for garden party wear these entrancing sheers are made up as pretty-pretty as genius and imagination can possibly create them.

The trio of dainty costumes in the picture most eloquently carries the message of lovely ladies clad in beguilingly feminine array such as is gracing the midsummer landscape with romance and the picturesque. The first impression one gets from this group, aside from the beauty of the sheer materials, is that of big hats, cunning puff sleeves and hemlines that are generously and gracefully wide. Since first impressions usually ring true, we learn important facts in regard to the correct silhouette for 1936 midsummer garden party and dance frocks.

The winsome dress pictured to the left is of a very fine crossbar net. Style points to note are the fancifully picketed hemline with like-pointed ruffles on the voluminous puffed sleeves, the flower ruche about the throat, also the huge-brimmed hat that is made of the selfsame net (stiffly starched) as the gown. Here also we see the return of the parasol.

"PAX" SILK PRINTS

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Prints continue to hold sway in the world of fashion. The lure of them is stronger than ever. Shown in the picture is one of the very interesting and unique "pax" (pax being the Latin word for peace) silk prints designed by a member of the board of directors of the international league for peace. These really handsome silk prints are available to women who are interested in adopting the peace-in-fashion movement. The dress pictured is of a blue and white silk sheer with the word pax so skillfully used as a motif it becomes a part of the patterning. The wide white-bordered cape-bertha is pleated and shirred in accord with the latest styling trend.

FROSTED JEWELRY LEADS THE VOGUE

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Summer's newest jewelry is "white and frosty." Rings, bracelets and necklaces that look as icy as a cool drink are being worn at fashionable summer resorts. Crystalline and opaque whites are frequently combined. Crystalline alone adds a glamorous note to costumes in the new smoky pastels, opaque white is good with copper-brown, and with the south-sea batik prints or flowered challis.

Choker necklaces are staging a come-back. Large frosty rings are frequently worn to match. To set off the rings, nails are adopting shades of smoky red polish. Massive couturier rings with multi-colored stones are also smart, and require bright nail lacquer such as robin red or coral to give the hands the proper balance.

For moments when the urge to be feminine has you in its grip, try yielding to the rage for flower jewelry. Fabric flowers, raffia flowers, carved flower motifs, are used—even the real thing straight from the florist. Any flower goes, from daisies to forget-me-nots. Some of the necklaces tie demurely at the back of the neck with a ribbon.

New Mode in Smart Sports Dresses for Daytime Wear

Smart dresses for daytime wear during the summer include grand new sports and spectator sports outfits. Molyneux has scored with a new design made for his private clients, who include several Americans known for their elegance. A suit of beige woolen has a most interesting belt which is made of natural tree bark and is fastened with a sheaf of dried grass. Another successful number is a dress of navy and white linen tweed with the skirt of wide, flat pleats. It is worn under a navy redingote.

By VIRGINIA VALE

JOE E. BROWN has been having a grand time for himself lately. With his latest picture, "Earthworm Tractor," welcomed by the public as one of the funniest he's ever made, he started off on a vacation.

Being a rabid baseball fan, he took in a few games when he reached the East enroute to Europe. In New York he went to a double-header between the Yankees and the St. Louis Browns, and presented to that sensational new Yankee outfielder, Joe DiMaggio, the award for being the most valuable player in the Coast league in 1935.

William Powell has sold his ornate home with the gold door knobs and is living in simpler quarters. Those rumors of a romance between him and Jean Harlow still persist—but apparently everybody who's unattached wants to marry him nowadays, and that includes girls who've never even seen him, except on the screen. Incidentally, Powell is regarded by actors everywhere as one of the most skillful and talented members of the profession—a tribute which is justly deserved.

Apparently nobody's happy any more until they've seen Hollywood. Young John Jacob Astor and his wife are the latest recruits of note; they are on their way to the film metropolis in a private car.

Bob Burns (don't tell me you haven't heard him and his bazooka on the Bing Crosby broadcasts!) is having honors heaped upon him. He worked in "Rhythm on the Range" with Bing, so the picture's premiere was staged in Little Rock, Ark., because Bob hails from the Ozarks.

Once upon a time The Revelers were the most popular quartette on the air. From time to time one of the sweet singers would drop out and make a name for himself all alone—Jimmy Melton was one who did it, Frank Luther was another—but somebody else would step in and the result would still be swell. You don't hear so much about them as you used to, but they're still on the air, at 6:35 afternoons—and they're still one of the best.

Cowboys have for years been known as devoted fans when Western pictures are shown, a fact which puzzled one motion picture executive so much that he questioned some of them about it. He wanted to know whether they went because the pictures were so much like their own life.

"Oh, no, they ain't like our life at all," one of them explained. "We go because maybe we think that's the way other cowboys go on."

There'll be excitement on the air waves in September, when Major Bowes and his amateurs go into action at the same time as the "Showboat" broadcasts. Nobody's sure which program the great public will prefer—some say the listeners-in are getting tired of amateurs, and others claim that "Showboat" has been sailing too long.

"San Francisco" is a grand picture, and is making money everywhere it's shown, especially in San Francisco. Yet the Chamber of Commerce of that city is still trying to get Metro to take out the earthquake scenes! Very wisely, Metro is refusing—lots of people go to see the picture especially to see them. The picture has added to the popular Clark Gable's following and has demonstrated again that he has a great deal of versatility as an actor.

Clark Gable

ODDS AND ENDS . . . Remember "Baby Peggy"? She's a big girl now, making a screen come-back under her whole name, Margaret Montgomery, and you'll see her in a small part in "Girls' Dormitory" . . . Ginger Rogers had a birthday party recently, with tiny dancing figures representing herself and Fred Astaire on top of the cake . . . When "Swing Time" is finished Fred will go to England with his wife and son for a vacation, and Ginger hopes to take a vacation in Hawaii before starting "Mother Carey's Chickens" . . . It looks as if that $5,000,000 suit which Pzamount has brought against Samuel Goldwyn for signing Gary Cooper must possibly be a publicity stunt . . . Surely Gary can sign with anybody he wants to when his present contract expires . . . The Tower of London was the scene of the pre-view of "Nine Days a Queen," an English picture based on the story of Lady Jane Gray.

Household Questions

Drain all juices from fruits or vegetables used for salads before arranging them on the plates. Placing the food in a colander for five minutes is a good idea as then all juices will drain out quickly.

Place a glass pie plate over the top of the kettle when making a stew. The stew may then be watched while cooking without lifting the cover or allowing steam to escape.

Do not wash art muslin curtains in warm water. Make a lather with hot water and when it is nearly cold wash the curtains. If the muslin is green add a little vinegar to the water in which they are washed; if lilac or pink add a little ammonia.

Custards may be cooked on the top of the stove when the oven is in use, and they are just as good as custards cooked in the oven. Put the dish into a kettle of water and keep the water boiling until the custard is set.

ANVIL SPARKS.

At least 20 per cent of the people's total earnings are taken by the tax-gatherers, and the percentage would be much greater if it were not for the fact that A LARGE PART OF THE SPENDING IS BEING CHARGED AGAINST THE FUTURE, IN THE FORM OF PUBLIC DEBT. A thousand industries have discovered the meaning of "profitless prosperity"—their output and sales are soaring, but their profits are not, because of the tax bill.

"This all means that employment opportunities are constantly lessened for men and women—that industrial expansion and spending are stopped—that investors are frightened and refuse to place their savings in ventures that would create new sources of wealth and employment.

"Taxation is an intensely personal problem—it menaces everyone's source of income, whether that income stems from a job or an investment. We cannot have real and permanent prosperity so long as we permit government to disburse our dollars with profligate hands."

The above from the Industrial News Review should give every American pause.

America has always been and still is a land of matchless resources. But her vast wealth threatens to be her own undoing.

In this matter of profligate spending we are often reminded of the behavior of the bees.

We are told by those learned in bee lore that the richer the stores of honey the more fractious the bees become.

If sufficiently irritated they turn upon their own hive and rob it of its store of honey.

The people of the United States, in their passion to get something from the Federal treasury, are emulating the bees in this particular.

Instead of pursuing the time-honored and only sensible policy of supporting the government, they have turned about and are sapping it of its wealth for their own support.

Exhaustion of credit resources are inevitable if people continue to look to the government for support instead of depending upon their own industry and resourcefulness.

Just as a colony of bees can not subsist long as drones neither can an organized society of humans.

Sensible government maintains equality of opportunity as near as possible, sees that none rob the other, and then insists that each work out his own salvation or suffer the consequences.

But so long as thrift and frugality are penalized by exorbitant taxes, to support the demagogue and the dead-beat, industry must languish and the passion to subsist on government dole will grow apace.

Can the American people learn a lesson from the folly of the mad bees and turn about from their headlong drive towards inevitable ruin before reaping the penalty that befalls the bees?

We hope that they may. But let us follow the analogy further.

As the maddened bees proceed with the robbery of their stores, some become so stuffed with honey that they become helpless and are stung to death by their more active and infuriated co-workers, so that the more they gorge the more they fight until waste and revolution exhaust both food and life, and famine and death close the scene.

Just as the hive has no stores save those produced by the worker-bees, the government has no treasure save that taken from the wealth created by those who produce.

Common sense should teach the most obtuse that the extravagant government expenditures of the past three years is too nearly analogous to the raid of the bees on their treasure to not portend a similar consequence.

Do we wish to invite the fate of the mad bees?

Or shall we return to sanity—to an economical government, supported in its rightful functions by a free and self-reliant people—a people neither dependent upon government succor nor subservient to its usurpations of our rights?

IN THE MATTER OF CHARGING A LARGE PART OF OUR SPENDING AGAINST THE FUTURE IN THE FORM OF PUBLIC DEBT, we are even worse than the bees!

When will this madness of a profligate government cease?

DEVOIRS TO GRANDMOTHER.

T skin that's like a piece of precious olden lace.

Where age has lent a soft and beautifying trace.

The newness and the loudness do no longer mar—

In their place, tone and character, surpassing are.

New stone is bare and has no charm for anyone.

But later—rain and sun—who knows? How is it done?

Exclaiming at the brilliant, crimson sunset—Oh!

But still more precious is the softened afterglow.

There is a tint on ivory and many a thing,

There is a mellowing that only Time may bring.

A gentled temper, an uplifting of the soul.

Earth's records closing, opens soon the heavenly scroll.

Beginning life's a very gay and happy thing.

A thousand tongues, the pride of youth, already sing.

But there's a depth and sweetness in life's farewell hymn

And naught the universe may hold, shall shade or dim

HALF-AND-HALF PEOPLE.

We can forgive so much in a person just so long as he is genuine and whole-four-square. We look to such as the salt of the earth.

But the indifferent, the lukewarm, the don't care type—we want to be absent from them as much as possible. They defeat all of life's purposes. They chill the very atmosphere. They discourage even themselves. They are the half-and-half people who block the way to all progress and throw cold water upon all happiness.

We can't expect to be perfect human beings, but we can be sincere people and show our face to the world, believe with all our being in the things that mean something vital and living, and be full of conviction.

Nobody loves a straddler, but the man who stands apart and asserts his faith, even though it may be the opposite to our own, is to be admired and looked up to. He is a leader in his own right—a master of destiny.

All the world bows to the man who will assert himself in definite terms and not be ashamed to do so. All leadership springs from such. Half-and-half people never lead. They never can decide to do anything. They are satisfied to drift. They know no shore and their end troubles them not at all.

I have just finished reading a remarkable novel by Mary Webb, which she called "The Golden Arrow". The main heroine of the story was Deborah, who loved with all her heart and mind and body. She gave all. There was no half-and-half about her. She suffered for it. Such people usually do.

Half-and-half people are neither happy nor unhappy. They are nothing! It seems to me to be a greater task to give all, to be determined upon one undying purpose—even though the end is but failure—than to risk nothing, to attempt nothing, to care for nothing—and remain half-and-half.

Mrs. Clyde Dennis, yard demonstrator in the Community Center Home Demonstration Club of Childress county has a windbreak planting for her yard improvement work. On the north and west, 900 small Chinese elms, orange oranges, desert willows, and tamarix have been arranged in the best manner for checking wind currents. The inside row next to the house is of Chinese elms, the tallest of the trees, then a row of orange oranges, a row of desert willows, and last a row of tamarix, a shrub which grows close to the ground. The windbreak will thus have the contour of an earth dam and will not be easily penetrated by wind. The orchard is planted inside the windbreak for protection. "Windbreaks are a farm asset in more ways than one," says Mrs. Dennis. "They tend to protect the soil from mechanical injury by wind, and a belt of trees by the farm buildings protects them from extreme winter cold and summer heat and makes the home a pleasanter place in which to live."

Hectic Days Sleepless Nights

Miss Currier relieved of nervous days and sleepless nights.

Christena Lanier finds Nervine best nerve medicine she ever used.

Miss Redman takes Dr. Miles Nervine whenever she feels restless.

IF YOU are nervous today, you probably will not sleep well tonight. If you don't sleep well tonight, you will probably be nervous tomorrow.

Don't allow yourself to become nervous. Take Dr. Miles Nervine. It will relax your tense nerves and let you get a good night's sleep.

Irritability, Restlessness, Sleeplessness, often lead to Nervous Headache, Nervous Indigestion, Hysteria—sometimes to a nervous breakdown and organic trouble.

Some of the people, whose letters are printed below, were as nervous as you are—possibly more so—yet they have found relief.

Three years ago I was so nervous I could not bear to go out in company and could not sleep nights. A friend recommended Dr. Miles Nervine. I now enjoy myself thoroughly and sleep every night. Miss Juliette Currier, New Market, N. H.

I have used Dr. Miles Nervine in liquid form and find it the best medicine for the nerves I have ever used. Christena Lanier, Middleton, Tennessee Whenever I have over-indulged and feel restless I take one or two Nervine Tablets just before I retire. In the morning when I awake I feel like a new person and can go about my work as usual. Dr. Miles Nervine Tablets quiet your nerves, brace you up and are the simplest, most convenient tablets to take I have ever found. Miss Grace Redman, St. James, Minn.

Before using your Nervine I was very nervous and irritable. Since I have started to take it I feel so much better that my family notice the difference. I still take it from time to time and the good result is wonderful. J. H. Redding, 1027 18th Ave., Rock Island, Ill.

Mr. Redding finds Nervine the best medicine for the nerves he has ever used.

An all time heat record was established here yesterday, August 11, 1936, when the mercury went up to 114, thereby breaking all previous heat records. For several days previous the heat wave was hovering over North Texas where thermometers registered up to 117. A West Indian hurricane on the coast which caused a suction is believed to be the cause of this unbearable heat. A thundershower at 5 o'clock Tuesday evening caused the mercury to slide down to 90 within one hour. In most cases work had to be suspended.

While riding on horseback along the highway, John Naegelin was side-swiped by a motorist, thrown aside and sustained a fracture of his left arm below the elbow. Silage in a "ditch" silo is the cow feed according to R. O. Allen, a dairy farmer who lives west of Canyon in Randall county. Mr. Allen has just finished filling a 100 ton ditch with grain sorghum at a cost of $2.00 per ton. This includes 40 cents a ton paid for the operation of a cutter. He estimates the cost of filling the silo at about the same as the cost of cutting, shocking and stacking the same acreage of feed. The dry state, last winter, Allen paid $17 a ton for poor quality roughage to feed his cows. He says this silage will be better as well as cheaper.
